It provides a scenario that allows the reader to understand what needs to happen in the management in a health care setting. This is a great story where it shows a hospital is endanger of losing everything and what the hospital management needs to do in order to bring the hospital out of debt and turn everything around.

The story of an accountant asked to become the interim administrator of a failing rural hospital after the death of the hospital administrator. Before he can save the hospital, he must understand how the healthcare industry differs from other industries where he has worked.
