Rene-Marie Stephano and Jonathan Edelhe : Medical Tourism ~ An International Healthcare Guide for Insurers, Employers and Governments (Global before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Medical Tourism ~ An International Healthcare Guide for Insurers, Employers and Governments (Global:

The definite guide for any international insurance company, multinational employers, health insurance agent or government who is involved with patients and insured who travel to other countries for healthcare. This book explains why patients are traveling for healthcare, what medical and dental procedures they are traveling for and what countries patients are traveling to. It will provide an understanding of the medical tourism and international healthcare marketplace and teach you what you need to understand in order to implement a successful international healthcare plan. "As employers consider their options in a climate of economic challenges and shifting more medical and financial decisions on employees, it makes sense to gain a good understanding of the potential value of medical tourism. This book offers an opportunity to begin that important process." Larry S. Borress, President CEO, Midwest

Business Group on Health "As our clients healthcare costs continue their dramatic increases, Jonathan and Renee-Marie offer our clients a blue print towards true cost savings by removing the fears and unknowns of Medical Tourism. This book is a must read for any employee benefit professional who is dedicated to the changing and growing need of his/her clients and who is partnering with these clients to implement true cost savings measures!" Jason B. Krouse, Executive Vice President, Univers Workplace Benefits "An informative, instructional and inspiring book for anyone who wants to break into Medical Tourism. This book holds practical insights that will help you build and expand your piece of this growing market. The industry experts, Jonathan Edelheit and Renee-Marie Stephano, have done the research for you. Their knowledge is the key to your success." Trish Freeman, President, Louisiana Association of Health Underwriters
