It's a pamphlet. Aside from having only a few pages (I wouldn't know how many because they aren't even numbered) the print is huge, so no information, no ideas, nothing but regurgitated information. When I receive something like this I can't help but feel I would have been better off just using an internet search to compile a list of natural antibiotics and antivirals, put them in order in a word document and just printed it out. This is pretty much all this is, except it has a card stock cover with a picture and a gloss finish so it has the semblance of a book.... But wait, I have the ability to do that as well. In fact I could go to a local print shop and do it myself in bulk for around 2$ per and sell the pamphlets for 10 bucks on ... but I suppose since I already bought one I don't need to do that.5 of 6 people found the following review helpful. If the world community cannot agree to the end of excessive use of synthetic antibiotics, the day might soon come where masses of drug-resistant bacteria overpower the human body. Although there are cases where conventional drug antibiotics are the necessary choice because no alternative cure exists, such as cases of sepsis (blood infections), certain pneumonias, kidney infections, and excessively high fevers, the main issue is whether antibiotics are being used responsibly and only when necessary. If you are ready to embrace more natural forms of medicine, naturopathic doctors and holistic physicians well-trained in botanicals can help you get started and decide which herbs are appropriate for your current condition.
